

Bandages by Ria Shroff

Today i fell down right in front of my bus
With a charcoaled hand, and a bloody pant and a phone to match
I got bandages from the lady doin her part
And a friend close to me, close to my heart

I'm so thankful for the people at my side
Wanted all their sadness, plant my happiness in their eyes
So do i regret it?
Ive got one empty glass
Thats filled with nothing, but sadness and my past

Theirs happiness in the cup
But the cup upside down
Cause newtons law tells me that
Gravity pulls it out

Even if i try hard
I k now theres no coming back
They ask me.. are u hurt?
I say I've been hurt all around

....

I know i dont deserve them after all theve done for me
I saty up from night to day watching the sun complete
They think that ive got nothing on my mind
But all i i want is for them not to cry

Just like I...do in the nighttime
When its safe and its sark
And nobody cares about you
When im safe and dark
And i dont have a weapon to choose

Ill cry my heart out
And ill miss you as you pass
But all i know is that.. Your happiness should last.
