

“For the People That Matter”

For the people that matter

I will comb your hair,

For the people that matter

I will watch you stare,

For the people that matter

I will watch paint dry,

For the people that matter

I will soar the skies up high.

For the people that matter,

I hope someday I will matter to you too.

For the people that matter

I will curse your name,

For the people that matter

I will go insane,

For the people that matter

I hope you go crazy for me too.

For the people that matter,

I hope my name rings true,

Wishing for a shared intensity,

And I hope that hope for you too.