

Suspended

Dead fish
Eyes closed
Open mouth
I wait for you to decide what to do with me
You took my hands, my eyes, my vision
I am living half awake
Walking through your sins

I am not my own
I hate myself for the fact that I am yours
I crumble under your hands
Molded by your whims

Our blood comes from warring tectonic plates
I am moving under, consumed by you, crushed into the most unnatural form

You make it hurt so much more than necessary