

My Muse

I'll tell you my biggest dream
The centre not just the outer cream
No longer hiding in the pantry, gonna take a cruise
Stopped living so blandly
Maybe fulfilled, maybe destiny
I wanna be someone's muse
That's my kinda fantasy
To be on someone's mind only for a second
Is worth the time holding up my beacon
Lift up by me looking for that person
That's why I reckon
If someone lives the same as me
Or just needs a little push
To cross that bridge that's bound to tangle
Let me tell you something
I want to scream it to you, and whisper it to you
My dream has come true to you
Coz you are my muse
My heart is always nearer you
Than you are oft' to yourself
You are my muse
You'll have to listen no excuse
A cup of tea, and my favourite cookies
Sit down ,let's sing, oh goodies
You are my muse
Want me to let you live alone
In the dark afraid and pretending
Turning off your phone
Had enough of these people
Breaking your bones
None less for these goons
Acting as the best disciple
I refuse to let it go
In thy hands, undefended
I got thy weapon, you are the master
This what you are,
What you own
Stop crying over this Spilt milk, it's your turn to savour
The little joys of your life
These torn pages
The scars are fading
You are but to me, my little world
Though to someone you are but you naught believe
A heaven, a peace, a honey jar
Like you are but to me my little world
My Little Girl,
But Darling you are what you choose
From the simplest star to the summoning space
From the smallest drop

To the ocean
From the roundest rock in the River to the ones steering its way
It is you and it is them
A corroded dime
To start the world
Better than the diamond mine
Under my house, beneath my heart
Trying to break it for my own regard
This isn't what you wanted ,you accuse
But it's inevitable once found ,is broken
Never could they be used as a token
For your lovely smile
Your scrunching nose
You glistening eyes
That look on your face
That one is my muse
So whenever you feel down
remember these things
Forever and ever
Till you remember me,that is
From someone's humble smile to laughter you once had The warm embrace of my words to them and theirs to mine love this world from a child playing, to someone's hug
From an unneeded apology to an unheard confession
From the defence of an unknown to someone praising you that is anatomy
Some compliments that make you blush and adore
For the needed therapy, someone to reassure
From someone's smile after your help
Or someone answering your yelp
From God's creation of earth and kelp
Making you a flower crown or giving you a single petal
To someone loving themselves and each other
From a stranger's tender bow
To the clapping in class
From your friend's joke to the memories you shared
To smile at someone who still cares
The smile of your people
The people that are there
To the mother who had arrows that, meant for you
Treating you like you own the world, but alas you don't The father who gives what was one his just for a lil grin on thy grumpy face
Eating mouldy bread while thy eat a burger
The sweetest brother who knows all you're jokes
Who'll give you his kidney but not his charger
The bossy sister who's willing to fight any mister
Anyone, who comes to you
Sharing clothes is just an exception
To the friend who made sure to leave the same quirky remarks on the snobs or boring teachers
Passing chits and checking crushes
The classmate who always smiled and talked to you

While others ignored
Someone to lean on ,to rely on
To the glimpses you stole to strangers
From perky teens and sweet grandmas
To passer-by and your travel partner
The courtesy smile or picking up your things from the floor
From holding the door to ignoring your snore
The one that offered you a tissue or pen
A shoulder for you to awkwardly tap on
The look on their face That they'll help
So fear not
The planet Earth we're living on
Is not all bad or good at crawl.
That's why God has created this game
For humans to never find out
The things that are behind the curtains
The things that are uncertain
Life is a bumpy long road
To you ,to me and to everyone
Full of people to love and ignore
Some leave you halfway n' some don't
This is life to all the people
Amazing and unfair
You have to live
Make till the end of the world
To all that's here, To all you have
So whenever you are tired of this game
Lay down on the grass
Remember my name
Remember this maze
Gaze upon my theory of life clear as a tinted glass
Some things to be near ,some to surpass
Remember this
Stay close to your muse
It can be anything you choose
The answer is not bleeding or booze
There is remedy yet to found
It's time to stop that finger hitting snooze
This is the alarm and the calm
The sound of a baby's laugh
To see a smiling person after they cried
To the pre schooler that got lost and hugged you with tears
Guiding him to his teacher or parent
The look oh his face as if he escaped hell
He'll probably forget but you won't
That's why good prevails
And evil is to be killed
The warmth you felt
You are my muse
You are the muse
The loud rants
The midnight chats

Looking at the ants working hard
To the butterfly flying above your head
Your nose full of the scent
To that beetle you helped out of the water
It ran away from you
Even if you helped it
Life is a muse
Life is death
Listen, My Dear, My beloved
There's a thing inside you that must be thrilled ,anxious to cringe you, haunt you at night
Let it be its not a soap that has to be sappy
So let it be
For me even if it is To the beautiful word I spoke
From a single letter written right to being called pretty too
From pausing the cute scene in the novel to the secret goofy dance behind a closed door too
But this has to go on
This is to everyone
Coming ahead ,left alone
This is my code till abode
You are yet my muse
This is my muse
Hope this works for you too, if so too
If you also start to appreciate the little things in life
The little little things in life
You'll be someone's muse
You are someone's muse
You are my muse
So let it be
So let you be
You are here to live
To receive and to give
My dear, a truce in this letter
To not hurt yourself please
Protect what's precious to you
But every success is bound to fail
But crying is OK
Ok to feel lonely ,useless and rejected
To let it all out
Heal and breathe
Because you are my muse